Excitement Among the Boys.

Great interest and enthusiasm is being stirred up among the boys of this city as the result of a unique and original offer made by Moore & Owens.

This store announces that the salesman for Ederheimer, Stein & Co., makers of XTRAGOOD boys' clothing, Chicago, will call upon them within ten days and they offer to give, free, any $5.00 XTRAGOOD suit in their store to the first boy under sixteen who finds and identifies this salesman.

A feature of the plan is the one set expression which must be used by the young detectives, who are required to say: "You are from Ederheimer, Stein & Co., Chicago, and sell XTRAGOOD clothes." The salesman, it is said, will not admit his identity unless addressed in these precise words.

So active have the boys become in their search that every stranger who reaches town is quickly besieged and questioned by a crowd of young sleuths.
